ALI ON THE WAY DOWN IN THE 15th

Frazier Start Shaky, Finish Is Smokin'

By EDWARD A. PALLADINO
Assistant City Editor

NEW YORK

"The Fight" was as good, if not better than its advance notices.

Smokin' Joe Frazier, aggressor from the opening gong, overcame some tremendous wallops from the fast fists of Muhammad Ali in the early rounds and pounded out a near-knockout, unanimous decision over the Louisville Lip before a record crowd of more than 20,000 at Madison Square Garden.

His swollen jaw hurt, his stomach bruised and his pride shattered, Ali was in his own words, 'a terrible mess.'

The confident Frazier, in gaining outright claim to the World's Heavyweight Championship, staggered Ali in the 11th round and sent him flat on his back with a potent left hook in the 15th. Only Ali's superb condition and the apparently inexhaustible supply of rubber he has in his legs kept the former champion from being knocked out for the first time in his career.

Airmen Walked Through Open Door

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—Anti-government Turkish guerrillas freed four kidnaped U.S. airmen Monday night, leaving them in an unguarded apartment 700 yards from the U.S. Embassy. The GIs walked to freedom through a door their captors left open.

The Americans said they had been well-treated and adequately fed on cheese, bread and olives in five days of captivity at the hands of guerrillas who called themselves the Turkish Liberation Army.

They threatened to kill the Americans unless the Turkish government paid $400,000 ransom.

"We did not pay a single cent," said a Turkish government spokesman.

S. Sgt. Jimmie J. Sexton of San Angelo, Tex., and Airmen L.C. James Gholson of Alexandria, Va., Larry S. Heavner of Denver, Colo., and Richard Craszi of Stamford, Conn., had been seized Thursday as they left a radar station outside Ankara.

Gholson said the guerrillas left the apartment about 11:30 p.m. Monday night without a word.

"We waited until we were sure we were alone," said Gholson. "Then we went out the door and down the stairs to the street and grabbed the first cab that came by."

A government prosecutor said the kidnapers had rented a three-bedroom apartment in Ankara's plush embassy row district, paying the $80 monthly rent in advance.

Turkish officials said police and troops searched the district two days ago during a massive manhunt that followed the kidnapping.

"Police must have passed within 30 feet of the men," said an official. "Perhaps they were too frightened to call out."

Sexton appeared at a news conference at the American Embassy with his arms around his wife, who is eight months pregnant.

"Every time we would lose our appetite because of some bad news or something, they (the kidnapers) would ask us if we wanted something to eat or drink. They kept emphasizing to us they would not hurt us," said Gholson. "They were great." But he said the Americans were nervous, "knowing our lives were on the line."

"They said they wanted to liberate Turkey," he said of their captors.

The Turkish government appeared to be narrowing the search just before the Americans were released.

"Our search measures have produced their first fruits and the whole thing should be cleared up within two or three days," the government said. An official attributed the kidnapping to "a small group of professorial urban guerrillas." Organize outside Turkey.

In Washington, Secretary of State William P. Rogers thanked the Turkish government for its efforts to obtain the release of the men.

"I would like to express our great satisfaction with the vigor and extraordinary efforts of the Turkish government in connection with this matter," Rogers said.

"I deeply appreciate the understanding, co-operation and forbearance of the families of these men during these difficult days."

The apartment where the Americans were held contained two beds and makeshift bunks on the floor, and a portable typewriter the men used to write appeals for ransom still held the carbon copies of the notes. Turkish newspapers, orange peels and food scraps littered the floor of the flat.

FREEDOM—At press conference in Ankara are the four U.S. airmen held for ransom by left-wing guerrillas but then released unharmed. They are, (L-R): Jimmy Sexton of San Angelo, Tex. and wife; Larry Heavner (at center right) of Denver, Colo.; James Gholson of Alexandria, Va. (mustache); and Richard Caraszi of Stamford, Conn. ## Laird Unveils Evidence of Red China's ICBM

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird today unveiled evidence Red China may have already fired its first ICBM and said an apparent pause last year in Russian missile development could have heralded the birth of a new Soviet ICBM system.

In his annual report to Congress on the world military situation, Laird also predicted that between 1973 and 1975 China could develop an initial force of operation intercontinental ballistic missiles.

"The Soviet and Chinese threats to the U.S. call for moving ahead toward the full safeguard anti-ballistic missile deployment," he said. The complete safeguard system would include 12 ABM sites in the United States. At present only three sites have been approved.

Laird announced plans to start surveys for a fourth site in the safeguard system. He also outlined military threats to the free world and potential spots, detailed plans for a top-level Pentagon reorganization and traced a long-range program to hand over more defense responsibility to U.S. allies by substituting increased military aid for the presence of American soldiers.

"The better equipped our friends and allies are to provide for their own security, the more firm will be our own security," Laird said. "This is so because the probability of war and of U.S. involvement in war will be lowered."

Laird also revealed that during the first half of 1971, despite an increase by 110 in the total number of Russian missiles while the U.S. total holds steady, the number of Soviet warheads will increase by only 11 per cent while the U.S. warhead total goes up 15 per cent.

Pentagon officials said this is because of multiple-warhead Minuteman 3 and Poseidon submarine missile installations in progress by the United States.

He said this world-wide strategy of "realistic deterrence" was a direct outgrowth of the more local Vietnamization policy of President Nixon and was made possible by that policy's success.

In the unclassified version of his book-length report, presented to the House Armed Services

Committee, Laird made only passing mention of the new Russian ICBM system. He was of current Soviet ICBM models," Laird said. But he said tests of modifications to the huge SS9 and smaller SS11 and SS13 missiles have continued.

"The implications of these trends are still not clear," he said. Two possible explanations

"There has been an unexplained slowdown in deployment of the command's assessment.

Another possibility the four-term governor would not rule out was seeking an unprecedented fifth term in 1974. Asked to pledge he would not seek a completed or that new installations had been slowed down to permit installation of improved missiles or multiple warheads in existing silos.

"Alternatively, the explanation may be that the Soviets are preparing to deploy new ICBM missile systems," Laird said.

Five-Month Setback for Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — The South

Laos, it is advantageous to the movement down the Ho Chi Minh trail enables North Vietnamese to and Viet Cong troops in the field to operate for 10 days.

"By knocking off half that load," said the U.S. official,

"the North Vietnamese troops of Highway 9 are only getting half a load or five days' supplies."

The South Vietnamese have been in Laos 30 days. By the U. S. Command's reckoning,

therefore, Hanoi has been set back 150 days, or five months.

From all indications, the South

Vietnamese plan to stay in Laos until about May 1, or for 53 days more. This would mean another nine months gained for Vietnamization, according to the command's assessment.

"This means more time to do a job of training the Vietnamese," said the source. "The Laotian drive will give the Vietnamese forces a better idea of how they can handle things. It will give them more experience, more confidence, make them more battle hardened so they can better handle the job.

On the Vietnamese side of the northern front, North Vietnamese troops ambushed a U.S.

truck convoy on Highway 9 seven miles west of Cam Lo and 23 miles from the Laotian border.

One American was killed, 21

were wounded and two trucks were knocked out, the U. S.

command said. Enemy casualties were not known.

Although no ground advance in Laos was announced, the allowed commands reported more massive destruction of North Vietnamese stockpiles and truck convoys in the area of Se-pone, and South Vietnamese

headquarters said nine important branches of the Ho Chi

Minh trail supply network had been cut.

Rocky Ready to Pinch Hit for Nixon

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—The

New Hampshire primary is rule out anything."

While it has been widely speculated in the past few months hinted he's ready to pinch hit should President Nixon drop out of the White House lineup,

Rockefeller said Monday that he supports Nixon now, but should the President drop out,

"that's a whole new ball game."

Rockefeller pulled out of the

1960 GOP presidential race early, lost a primary battle with

Barry Goldwater in 1964, and consider a presidential run

under those circumstances, on in 1968.

Rockefeller replied "I wouldn't when asked the question, Rockefeller replied he was convinced that Nixon would seek re-election so there was no point speculating on himself making another bid. He repeated those statements at his Monday news conference.

"I'm supporting President

Nixon in running again," Rockefeller said. "I think the President is going to get us out of Vietnam, and that he's going to get the economy turned around, and with the Congress, relevant to the present situation

so I'm not making any commitments right now."

One thing the governor did say was that he wasn't worried about the impact of his proposed $1.1 billion state tax hike on his political future.

"I have never feared about my political future," he said

"I've just gone on and done

what's best for the people of

New York State without regard to possible personal consequences."

ROSENDALE The charges and countercharges that have typified Rosendale's approaching village elections took the backseat Monday to some surprise courtroom drama.

Rosendale's powerful Conservative-Republican ticket was effectively split down the middle in State Supreme Court. At the same time, the village Democrats were again denied permission to run on a separate independent ticket.

On February 19, incumbent Mayor Carl P. Grassi, the Conservative Party candidate, was unanimously endorsed to run on the Republican ticket. Yesterday, in Supreme Court, it was ruled that Grassi be taken off the Republican Party line because the Republican Committee in Rosendale had failed to file a certificate of authorization with the Town Clerk. The same thing, in essence, happened to the Republican candidate for Village Trustee, Richard Priest, a Republican, had been endorsed by the Conservative Party in Rosendale. Yesterday, he was removed from the Conservative Party line because his certificate of authorization was incorrectly filed.

As matters now stand, Reid and Ritter will run on the Democratic line only. Grassi will run for mayor on the Conservative Party line and Priest will run for trustee on the Republican line. As a result, the Republicans will not have a candidate for mayor and the Conservatives will not have a candidate for trustee.

It was indicated today, however, that Priest and Grassi might appeal the court decision. The elections take place next Tuesday.

A spokesman for Grassi said today that no comment would be forthcoming from the mayor.

As yet, although it was indicated that other developments might take place, Reid could not be reached for comment. Priest is a newcomer to the recent campaign. Originally, the Republicans had nominated Robert Smith but on Feb. 23, midway through the campaign, he declined the nomination. Priest was endorsed by the Republicans, and later by the Conservatives.

Priest has never held public office in Rosendale, although he did serve on the Village Board appointed committee that recommended dissolution of the village earlier this year.

Dutchess Death Under Probe

RHINEBECK

State and County authorities today continued investigation of the death of a 24-year-old woman who was found shot to death in her apartment on Fallkill Road in the Town of Hyde Park. Authorities said Mrs. Janice Bomba died of gunshot wounds of the head. A 30-30 caliber rifle was found near the body.

State Police said it had not been determined whether the woman was the victim of homicide or suicide, according to Sergeant William Urey.

Dutchess County District Attorney Albert Rosenblatt and his staff joined Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers from Hawthorne and Rhinebeck in the investigation.

The body was discovered shortly before 9 p.m. Monday when troopers were summoned to the residence. The woman had rented the second floor apartment in a house owned by Raymond Travis, police said.

Troopers said no notes were found, and no motive for the shooting had been established.

New IBM Computer Work — No Changes in Job Force

KINGSTON — Manpower at IBM Kingston will not be affected by Monday's announcement that the local Neighborhood Road facility will manufacture a new System 370 computer, officials have told The Freeman.

It was announced yesterday that existing personnel at the Kingston facility will handle all phases of the new project that are undertaken here.

The decision to select IBM Kingston as manufacturer for Model 135 was a "corporate" one, an IBM spokesman said, and involved a variety of reasons. Among those cited was the necessity to maintain a "balanced workload" among IBM plants throughout the country. "The expertise and background at any given plant" was also considered before the final selection was made.

IBM Kingston will manufacture the new computer for domestic distribution. IBM plants in Havant, England and Fujisawa, Japan will manufacture Model 135 for World Trade purposes.

Development of the new computer was accomplished through a blend of international expertise and Trans-Atlantic cooperation. As early as 1969, engineers from IBM Kingston commuted regularly to Hursley Park, England, where they met with British engineers during the developmental stages of the project. Constant telephone communication was maintained between the two plants, as well.

"Some new and unique communications problems were encountered" during the cooperative development of the new computer, said an IBM official. "It's not the same as dialing an engineer across the street or talking to him in his office."

Manufacture of Model 135 represents a new venture for the IBM Kingston plant and its engineers. The local facility, in past years, has concentrated on manufacturing larger scale members of the System/360 and System/370 lines, but the Model 135 computer is described as a smaller computer on the "low end of the system."

IBM Kingston has been most recently responsible for manufacturing Model 165, System/370, the largest member of the system.

Model 135 is the lowest cost model in the series and offers expanded communications capabilities as well as performance to users of medium-size and smaller IBM computers.

As evidence of advances made by IBM technology in recent years, Model 135 is up to four and one half times faster internally than the widely used System/360. Model 30 for typical commercial applications. Its main memory sizes are nearly four times greater than model 30's.

The computer will serve as a storage bank for information of virtually every description. As an example, it may be used by a small manufacturing firm for storage of all its customer information and records. Pertinent data can be retrieved from the "data bank" at the flick of a switch. In addition, the information can be updated the instant a change occurs.

Monthly rental for Model 135 will range from $9,870 to $22,600 and purchase prices will range from $475,000 to $1,068,000.

IBM EMPLOYEES AND TEST MODEL — Employees of the Kingston plant of International Business Machines Corporation gather around the recently announced IBM System 370 Model 135 on test at the local IBM plant. The new intermediate-scale data processing system will be manufactured and tested at the IBM Systems Manufacturing plant in Kingston. Model 135 was developed at the IBM facility in England and will be manufactured in Kingston, England and Japan. First customer shipments are scheduled for May, 1972.

Educators Are Undecided

KINGSTON — Two incumbent members of the Board of Education of the Kingston Schools Consolidated said today they were "undecided" whether they would be candidates for re-election for another 5-year term at the May 4 election.

They are Mrs. Corsones of 194 Fair Street, and Bevier H. Sleight Jr., of 80 Ringtop Road. Their current terms expire on June 30.

Mrs. Corsones is chairman of the board's personnel committee and Sleight chairs the building committee. Both have served on other committees.

Registration of voters for the annual district election is scheduled for April 16 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. at the tax office in the George Washington School, 67 Wall Street. Registrars will be Mrs. Frances E. Bence of 105 Maiden Lane, and Mrs. Anne Whalen of 250 West Chestnut Street. Any person who did not register under personal registration on or before Oct. 6, 1970, and has not voted at an intervening election must, in order to be entitled to vote, present himself personally for registration. No person shall be entitled to vote at the election whose name does not appear upon the registers of the school district.

City University Students Face Tuition Charges

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — City University of New York students may have to pay some tuition next year as a result of budget-cutting proposals by Senate Republicans.

In an attempt to reduce Gov. Rockefeller's proposed $8.45 billion budget for fiscal 1971-72, the State Republican majority recommended Monday a number of cuts, including the imposition of a tuition charge at the CUNY equal to that paid by State University of New York students. Undergraduate students at SUNY who are state residents now pay $400 a year, a figure that will increase to $550 next year. CUNY students currently pay no tuition.

Although this proposal has been made previously by others, it was seen as significant since it came from the governor's own party, which controls both houses in the legislature.

The state splits the cost of running the city university's senior colleges with New York City. The budget contains appropriations of $111 million as the state's share for the fiscal year beginning April 1.

Costs at the 130,000-student university have skyrocketed as a result of an open admissions policy instituted last fall, which guarantees a place to any city high school graduate regardless of academic record.

The university accepted 35,000 students in its freshman class this year, 15,000 more than in 1969-70. Many of the new students would not have qualified for entrance under the previously high standards.

Total enrollment next year is expected to increase by 7.8 percent to 141,000.

The proposed budget reductions were made by 10 committees composed of Republican senators. Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, R-Niagara Falls, said the recommendations would be submitted to all Senate Republicans for discussion.

A GOP Option to Taxes — Cut in Welfare Benefits

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Senate Republicans are considering slashing welfare benefits up to 25 per cent to reduce new taxes, reliable sources said today.

The welfare cutback is one of a series of "options" being taken up today by the Senate Republican Conference under Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges.

The Niagara County lawmaker said other areas likely to feel the economy ax are state employees, smaller state agencies, the State University and the City University of New York.

Brydges said GOP committees had made "extensive downward reductions" but declined to estimate the total until the conference reaches an agreement.

Both the Assembly taxwriters and minority Democrats are scheduled to reveal further budget proposals this week.

Minority Leader Stanley

Steingut, D-Brooklyn, said Monday the Democrats' reductions were "in the neighborhood" of $300 million-$700 million. He said, however, they would concentrate on reducing budgets of state agencies and capital construction, not aid to localities.

The severity of proposed cuts, however, equals those already suggested by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, and could be considered the "meat ax" approach condemned by Rockefeller last week.

The economy moves reflect the widespread desire among lawmakers of both parties to make major reductions in the proposed $1.1 billion tax hike.

For example, an estimated $200 million could be saved by rejecting Rockefeller's proposed 7 per cent "cost of living" increase in welfare payments, and slashing current benefits by 18 per cent.

The reduction would also ease the welfare burden on local governments. Since they would be required to meet lower state levels.

Further reductions are under consideration for the state work force, postponing some salary raises and employee benefits, and cutting the operating budget for the State University system.

Another proposal would impose tuition at SUNY that are "equivalent" to the $550 per resident student at SUNY next year.

The Senate options roughly parallel $200 million in cuts suggested by the Assembly ways and means committee.

Those cuts include $50 million for mental health funds, $20 million for SUNY, and reductions averaging more than $1 million for every state department.

At a news conference Monday Rockefeller reiterated his position that it would be "disastrous" to cut services as the Assembly group proposed.

"If the legislature says 'We're going to cut some services because we don't have the money,' that's one thing," he said. "But if they try to say there's fat in the budget and we're cutting excess personnel, they're fooling themselves and fooling the public."

As further ammunition against the legislative critics, Rockefeller's office released a statement by Budget Director Richard L. Dunham saying the 4,400 new state jobs requested is the lowest total in six years.

Dunham said 2,432 of the jobs are for mental health facilities, 900 for increased SUNY enrollment, and 237 for the state police.

SUNY Students to Vote on Fees

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Students at 27 State University campuses will vote this spring on whether to have mandatory or voluntary student activity fees, SUNY Chancellor Ernest L. Boyer announced today.

The voting plan, in which the students will decide whether they or their campus administrators will have ultimate control over the funds, comes in the wake of critical statements in the courts and elsewhere over the current fee system in the university system.

If the students choose mandatory fees, then a "strict accountability" to the state will be required, over how the funds are acquired and spent. If they choose voluntary fees, the students will retain sole control of the funds.

Boyer said the SUNY trustees will consider guidelines for the voting at their regular meeting this month. The new policies will take effect next September.

"Student governments are a vital part of campus life," Boyer said. "The new referendum procedure recognizes the 27 state-operated campuses. It whose employment had been continued importance of student activities and involves students actively in the basic decision regarding the program."

The review of student fees was prompted last fall when State Comptroller Arthur Levitt issued a report calling for the establishment of guidelines for the use of student funds, and that the money is expended in an audit be made of expenditures.

In its report, the grand jury said funds dispensed by the student association included loans to students and non-students that were not collected. It urged that student funds be denied organizations whose goals are the destruction of the U.S. Government.

Among items Levitt questioned was an appropriation of $15,000 at the Albany campus. The money was used to fund "free school" within the university, and $12,000 of the total was to be used to hire a professor.

The referendum will include

An Ex-General Called in PX Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former one-star general was called from forced retirement today to reply to accusations that he took bribes from an international slot-machine syndicate and shielded corruptors of the Post Exchange and GI club systems.

Ex-Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole's testimony is the latest development in an inquiry stretching back to last year by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff's permanent investigations subcommittee into the operations of PXs and clubs.

Last year the Army removed Cole from command of the Army-Air Force exchange service in Europe. Soon after he was demoted to colonel, stripped of the Distinguished Service Medal awarded for his service as PX policy adviser in Vietnam and ordered retired.

At the time, the Army would say only that Cole had not met the standard of integrity expected of a general officer.

Cole has constantly denied any wrongdoing and has said he will go to court to defend himself.

Before his assignment in Europe, Cole was in charge of personnel and administration and wielding over-all policy administration for PXs and clubs in Vietnam.

Previous witnesses told the subcommittee Cole misused that position willfully and repeatedly to protect illicit operations of William J. Crum and his firms' dealing with the U. S. military in Vietnam.

Monday, the former chief legal officer at the U.S. Military Systems Command in Saigon said Cole played him a "low-down dirty trick" when he put him up in luxury hotel quarters in Hong Kong without telling him most of the bill was being paid by Price and Co., a liquor distributor owned by Crum.

Col. Robert Ivey said Cole "played me for a patsy" in providing the quarters and later asking for special treatment for another of Crum's companies, Sarl Electronics, which had established a near-monopoly in slot machine sales to Army clubs in Vietnam.

Jack Bybee, once a general manager of Crum's Vietnam enterprises, testified Crum told him Gen. Cole cost him at least $1,000 monthly and that he could expect the general to return the favor.

Bybee and other witnesses testified Cole intervened again and again to quash investigations into Crum's operations.

Witnesses have said Cole inter-

Running on Record, Claims Mayor DuBois

NEW PALTZ village water and sewage systems as major achievements of his administration. Mayor Henry DuBois, making what he says is his last run for political office, has released a campaign statement containing his platform. DuBois, who has been either a trustee or mayor of New Paltz since 1938, is running heavily on his record.

He cites two reasons for running again. The first reason is the "capacity and dedication" of the present Village Board. The second is his belief that he is "particularly well qualified to serve...in this important position at this time of decision."

He points to improvements in village water and sewage systems as major achievements of his administration. Traffic congestion is a major issue with New Paltz voters, and the mayor says his administration has put pressure on state authorities, "and will continue to do so, in order to obtain arterial by-passes to carry through traffic around the village and town and thus leave our village streets safe for able police protection for both motorists." He says such by-passes have been promised by the state.

DuBois has plans for the burial of all utilities and major improvement in the village's sidewalks. He also commits himself to the idea of a joint village-town police force, saying, "When established, we will have a system of depend-our village streets safe for able police protection for both motorists." He says such by-passes have been promised by the state.

DuBois calls for an updating of the village's zoning ordinances, "so that apartment dwellers and all other citizens will not be victimized."

"The community must not be turned into a jungle of asphalt parking lots, slum-breeding apartment complexes, and ugly shopping centers," the mayor says.

In the statement's last paragraph, DuBois draws on what may be his most compelling strength, saying, "My record of accomplishment backed by a generation of public service justifies my request for the support of the voters."

Car Fire Extinguished

Pollution Fight

It was one thing for President Kennedy to proclaim the goal of landing men on the moon by the end of the decade of the '60s, and quite another for science and technology to devise the means of getting them there—and back.

Equally, it was one thing for President Nixon last January, as his first official act as the decade of the '70s began to establish a White House Council on Environmental Quality, stating that "it is literally now or never" for the nation to reclaim the purity of its air and water and living environment.

And quite another thing for science and technology to devise the means for reaching that goal.

The primary need, of course, is for methods of preventing or controlling pollution. But a companion need is for instruments to monitor the effectiveness of that control.

Already in some areas, says Chemical & Engineering News, suitable instrumentation is just not available for standards that either have been set or are expected to be set very soon.

Too many analyses still require expensive and complicated instrumentation that can be run only by highly trained personnel. The critical need is for automated, simplified "black box" methods that can be handled by technicians. An example is a satisfactory and low-cost method of measuring the gaseous pollutants in automobile exhaust that a garage mechanic can operate.

Just as companies must now keep financial records that are credible to the Internal Revenue Service, plants will eventually have to keep pollution records that are credible to regulating agencies, the magazine says.

It predicts that the total market for pollution instrumentation will grow rapidly—about 15 per cent a year—during the 1970s. It will total at least $1 billion for the decade.

The market for auto emission instruments will peak at about $30 million per year in 1976, and the market for instruments to measure pollutants from stationary sources will grow from about $4 million this year to close to $40 million a year by 1980.

In the 1960s we geared up to land life on the moon. In the coming decade we will have to gear up again—this time to preserve life on earth.

Equal Treatment Under Law

The sentence, "30 dollars or 30 days," is almost as old as the nation. Hundreds of thousands of people too poor to pay the fine have languished in jail until they satisfied the alternate requirements of service that paid off the fine they could not raise. That type of sentence has come to an end. A unanimous Supreme Court held compassionately that jail under such circumstances is invidious discrimination violating the Constitutional equal protection of the law.

A ruling in a second action ordered to open their divorce courts to poor people unable to pay the cost, $60 in the case of Connecticut, where this suit originated. Justice John M. Harlan held unconstitutional a system which requires citizens to pay the costs of a suit which may be the only revenue for dissolving an untenable marriage.

These two cases, taken together, significantly advance the desire of poor people for equal treatment under the law. Justice William J. Brennan, who wrote the opinion on jail or fine, suggested that states might have defendants pay off fines in installments, as California, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania and Washington do. Or they could adopt other methods recommended by the state bar association, such as putting the men to work or finding him a job, to pay his fine. But a man who has the means to pay his fine and refuses or neglects to do so might be subject to the alternative jail term.

Justice Hugo L. Black dissented in the case freeing plaintiffs from paying the cost of a divorce. He said his colleagues are governed by their sense of fairness, rather than by the Constitution. Other strict constructionists left their sympathies sway their judgment. And we can't say we blame them in this instance.

An observing high school senior who took part in the President's Classroom for Young Americans learned to tell Washington politicians by their clothes. Alan Hale of Fairmont, Minn., found Democrats wore colored shirts, double Windsor knot ties, longer hair and sideburns; Republicans, white shirts, small ties, short hair, no sideburns.

The authority given President Nixon to impose wage-price controls expires March 31. With the Administration's agreement, the Senate Banking Committee recommends a 30-day extension to give Congress time to consider longer continuance. It was Congress' idea in the first place.

Despite the financial difficulty brought about by its aircraft engine impasse, Rolls Royce announced two new models in its line of luxury touring cars. The two-door saloon and a convertible will cost $31,000 each. Bankruptcy has not reduced the price.

The Woman From Martinique

MARTINIQUE, West Indies — The only real news here is not new. In fact, it goes back to 1796. But, interestingly enough, this is an anniversary of it.

This island is the birthplace of Marie Josephe Rose Tascher de La Pagerie, called by her enemies in Martinique a minx. She was the eldest of three daughters of a marine lieutenant and, at 16, first confounded her enemies here by marrying Martinique-born Viscount Alexandre de Beauharnais. It proved in their critical eyes that, while some women may throw themselves away over a man, others take fair good aim.

Beauharnais, however, was executed, alas, by hostile Jacobins. And, now 31, Josephe was adrift with their son and daughter like heretic Anne Hutchinson, exiled to the wilderness, clasping her children to her under the rain of tomahawks. But within two years the Martinique widow delivered her crusher.

On March 8, 1796, Josephe married Napoleon Bonaparte. Napoleon's fame was beginning — this Corsican with the face of an eagle and the hairdo of a spaniel. And his nomination to command the Army of Italy appears to have decided the Martinique widow to marry him.

Josephe was medium-tall, had a limpid sensuality, inviting eyes, a mysterious, tantalizing smile, a voice like a gurgling, chuckling, cornet and was alternately gay and sour. Her attitude was human and simple but also perverse. Ambition captured Josephe and she had decided never to return to this island.

She wept at her wedding. Claude Debussy could cry at will, an achievement of which he was inordinately proud. So could Josephe. Meanwhile, Napoleon's dominating mother boycotted the ceremony.

Napoleon was 27, his ego tricks already a fixed habit. He registered Josephe's age — she was six years older than he — as four years younger than she was and himself 18 months older.

The civil ceremony took place two days before Napoleon set out for Italy. Josephe declined to accompany him.

Soon his Corsican thunder rolled down the shores of Europe. On a faded, draggled green banner, knotted with a bright gold rosette, was a device of two crossed cannons: General of the Army of Italy. This was the personal standard of Napoleon Bonaparte — all Europe came to know it. He never changed it and within two years after his marriage to Josephe, while still 29, his glory exceeded any expectations of a lifetime.

At first Napoleon retained some balance. "Those crowds," he wrote Josephe early in their marriage, "would run as fast to see me if I were going to the scaffold." But gradually — drunk with power — you find him writing Josephe, as after the Battle of Bautzen: "My health is good. I put my battle losses today at 3,000 killed and wounded. I lost no one of importance."

Napoleon addressed his letters to Josephe: "Mio dolce amor," and they are innumerable. She rarely answered. In fact, her letters to him are so rare they bring at auctions many times more than his to her.

The woman from Martinique luxuriated among what the French call "le milieu" — and unsavory group — and during Napoleon's 1798-99 absence in Egypt she flagrantly compromised their relations. This burst like some great blister. The returning Napoleon thought of divorcing her. But on December 1, 1804, in the coronation at Notre Dame, Josephe gained her wish that she should be married anew to Napoleon with religious rites.

Josephe appeared radiant with triumph, particularly over the Emperor's relatives and her own relatives and envious friends who had traveled from Martinique.

Napoleon had no less a personage than the Pope on hand. But, unknown to Josephe, he deliberately arranged the omission of one formality: the presence of the parish priest.

Napoleon ultimately made the most of this shabby technicality and, in 1809, the marriage was annulled.

Josephe died among her roses at Malmaison amid the rich light and green farms of France, far from here. Napoleon was on Elba. But he wrote her from Elba: "Never forget him who has never forgotten you, and never will." Unquestionably, he loved Josephe beyond any woman in his life.

In simple truth, the only constant heart that this strange Corsican adventurer ever gave to anyone he gave to the woman from this island of Martinique.

Whom and What to Believe On Incursion Into Laos

BRUCE BIOSSET WASHINGTON (NEA) — Nothing is more puzzling than the Nixon administration's enduring lack of confidence in the capacity of Americans to accept unpleasant truth. Official utterances on the incursion into Laos provide fresh example.

In the opening days of the venture, several key Pentagon officials quite candidly warned that South Vietnam forces, though well-equipped and greatly improved over earlier years, could expect to be roughed up by the North Vietnamese army defending the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Now that it is happening as predicted, government officials — not least Defense Secretary Melvin Laird — are trying to gloss it over as of no consequence.

Admittedly, wipeouts of South Vietnamese fire bases in Laos, or even just hard threats to them, are not of a magnitude with effective assaults on Saigon's main forces.

But those forces, probing along Highway 9, have been stalled for nearly two weeks at a point about 16 miles inside Laos.

Again, statements by Laird and others that this protracted halt is according to plan just do not stand up. It can hardly be accident that the South Vietnamese have stopped at a place that keeps them under the umbrella of U.S. long guns firing from within South Vietnam.

Moreover, a day after the incursion started on Feb. 8, high Defense officials said the ARVN (South Vietnamese) expected to push at least 48 miles into Laos — to the junction of Highway 9 and Highway 23, a southward-running road that is considered the westernmost part of the Red trail system.

The halt at the 16-mile mark is only a third of the way to Highway 23, and nine miles short of Sepone, the midpoint on the trail as measured from east to west.

Thus limited in their advance aimed at slashing the trail routes, the South Vietnamese do not sound plausible when they claim the Red supply flow in Laos is reduced to very little.

Early on, key word from sources here was that the incursion might be limited to a few weeks — a quick slice at the trail to strangle the supply flow, destroy caches of weapons and other material upset Hanoi's timing and maybe block any offensives designed to influence the 1971 South Vietnamese elections.

Repeatedly, however, our military men have been saying the venture has longer-range objectives, that the ARVN will stay until the trail dry season ends in May. Such a disruption could damage

Hanoi's offensive potential until after President Nixon has made his reelection bid in 1972.

There has to be serious question whether this makes sense, given the restricted size of the ARVN forces committed to the action. So far some 10,000 of an available 20,000 men have crossed into Laos. Probably a much bigger attack contingent is required to take and hold territory athwart the broad Ho Chi Minh trail.

Our air support with fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships has been persistent and has taken its toll of enemy soldiers, supplies, tanks, etc. But it has not prevented damaging Red drives against ARVN fire bases north and south of Highway 9, and we, of course have had very substantial helicopter losses.

If more fire bases fall, ARVN columns might then be opened to severe Red counterforce. Highway 9 today is a thin strand without proper protection from buffer zones.

In view of the known difficulties, any plans to hang on until May and push 48 miles into Laos seem a long bet. Return to an earlier pullout strategy may be forced on the planners if Red resistance is high. The longer goals would be lost, but Hanoi's 1971 timetable might still be wrecked beyond repair.

Supreme Court Now Nine Disagreeing, Cranky Old Men

WASHINGTON — Dissension is smoldering inside the great white marble temple that houses the Supreme Court.

To the public, the nine black-robed Justices appear agreeable enough in their leather chairs behind the magnificent mahogany bench. But in the backrooms, they have been behaving like cranky old men.

Affable Earl Warren, the former Chief Justice, was able to keep peace among the strong personalities on the nation's highest court. But his successor, Chief Justice Warren Burger, lacks the finesse.

Their private sessions, say insiders, are stiffly formal. Burger expresses his opinion followed, in turn, by the other Justices according to seniority. After the discussion, Burger decides who should write the decisions and sends the assignments on a printed list to each member of the court.

The bickering and backbiting is confined largely to their private chambers. The word has leaked out of Burger's chambers, for instance, that the Chief Justice thinks 65-year-old Justice Hugo Black should retire, considers Justice William O. Douglas a discredit to the court and regards Justice John Harlan as lazy.

Some Associate Justices have an equally low opinion of Burger whose arbitrary sometimes arrogant ways annoy them. They compare him unfavorably to the retired Earl Warren.

Douglas, in private, attributes Warren's superior handling of the court to his political skill. He had an understanding of the nation's social, economic and political problems that went beyond the letter of the law, say Douglas.

Segregation Story

Shortly before Warren's appointment in 1953, the nine Justices discussed the school segregation issue behind closed doors. They were split 5 to 4 in favor of continuing segregation. But Chief Justice Fred Vinson died and was replaced by Warren before a public decision was reached.

Insiders recall that the new Chief Justice quietly began to persuade his colleagues to change their view. He wrote out his own strong opinion against segregation in longhand and delivered it personally to each member of the court. He combined this with a gentle private appeal.

One by one, Justices Felix Frankfurter, Hugo Black, Tom Clark and Stanley Reed — all of whom had signified behind closed doors that they would vote for continued segregation — switched sides. The last to agree was Justice Robert Jackson, who was hospitalized. Warren took his opinion to the hospital to explain it personally to Jackson.

The verdict against segregation, to the astonishment of the nation, was unanimous. Later, Warren used the same soft sell to get another unexpected 7 to 2 decision requiring state legislatures to reapportion on a one man, one vote basis.

The new Chief Justice takes pride in his stern, legalistic view of the Constitution. But insiders recall that Earl Warren, who was bitterly denounced by the strict constructionists, always carried a copy of the Constitution with him wherever he went.

They also remember Warren's rueful commentary. "The Founding Fathers," they quote him as saying, "managed to compress the entire blueprint for our government into 5,000 words."

They did a magnificent job. But if we had to write the Constitution over today, we would probably fail. The lobbies and pressure groups are too strong."

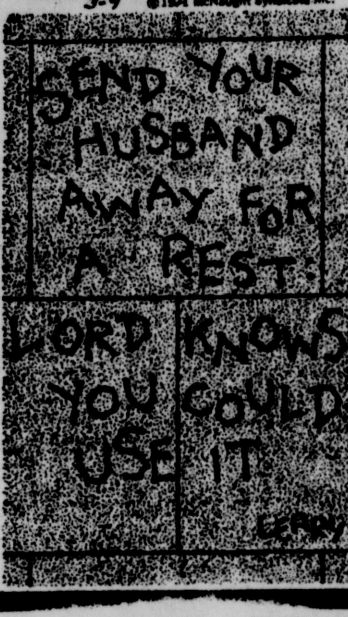

Footnote: President Nixon's first priority after moving into the White House was to change the complexion of the Supreme Court. He believed that the court's decisions had created a permissive atmosphere which had encouraged the spread of crime in this country. He has appointed two Justices who have taken a harder line. This has produced an ideological conflict which has contributed to the dissension within the court.

Inside Washington

Draft Expires — On June 30, the draft will expire. We urged three years ago that it shouldn't be renewed again. Never before in history, we pointed out, has the U.S. relied on conscription for so long a period. The youth rebellion, meanwhile, has spread from the campus to the camps. GI militants are talking mutiny. Morale is sagging. Discipline is crumbling. An increasing number of young men have been pressed into service to fight a war they hate. The draft has become so unpopular that draft dodging has become socially acceptable. Those who escape service aren't regarded as slackers so much as those who are drafted as suckers. The arguments against the draft are more compelling today than they were three years ago.

Eyes Down — Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., an old-style politician, is contemptuous of the new TV campaigning. He defeated Jack Wilkinson, son of the popular former Oklahoma football coach Bud Wilkinson, last November. Says Steed: "Young Jay ran television ads all over the state, depicting himself in a beautiful pastoral scene, walking in the fields, staring up at the sky. Contented cows were munching grass; his wife was gazing up into his face. I told the folks in Oklahoma I might not be as smart as young Jay, but at least I got enough sense to look at the ground when I'm walking around cows. I won by the biggest margin I ever had."

Clean Slate for Lawbreakers Under New Rehabilitation Program

RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — Little notice has been given to what may be the most radical attempt in this country's history at reform in dealing with men and women accused of crime.

If experiments now in their infancy are successful, there may be no trial, no sentencing and no "record" for many men and women arrested and brought to court.

Instead, for some there will be intensive counseling, group therapy and a voluntary rehabilitation program which will normally last 90 days but which can be extended to 120 or 150 when necessary.

A job will be found for each man, or he'll be enrolled in school or vocational training.

He'll be held to strict rules, on reporting for school or work, on making an attempt to shuck old habits, on seeking aid for his problems. His counselor will probably be an ex-con himself, a man who may have spent two to 16 years behind bars.

Men who make good in these three-to-five month workouts and impress the judge will go free with no time in prison and no criminal court record.

They will, in the strictest sense of the word, begin again with a clean slate.

No one knows yet if this approach will work. But one small-scale, experimental, federally financed program has been successful enough that New York City has taken over its management and financing in Manhattan and expanded its coverage to Brooklyn as well.

President Nixon has been so impressed with the experiment in New York and one in Washington, D.C., that he has asked Congress for funds to support similar programs in 13 other cities.

Timely Quote

The presidency is now totally consuming and has been for some time. Its unending confiscation of all time and thought destroys home and personal life. . . . At the same time, the rewards and satisfactions are far less than they used to be, and new demands cascade in torrents.

Council Meets On Thursday

KINGSTON
The Common Council will meet in special session Thursday night at 7 o'clock to vote on a resolution allowing World War II veterans who are city employees time served in the war toward their retirement allowances.

The resolution would allow a World War II veteran up to three years time toward his retirement. For instance, a police officer (or a fireman) with more than three years service in World War II could now retire in 22 years instead of 25. The resolution would cover all city employees in the New York State retirement system.

The annual cost to the city has been estimated at $1,500 per year. The special meeting was called because the deadline for acting on the proposal is April 1. The Council does not meet again in regular session until April 16.

It has also been learned that the aldermen will meet with Thomas K. Wilson, owner of Urban Transit Corp., the city's bus company, to discuss the company's financial condition, which Wilson has said will force him to shut down service on April 1.

The meeting, reportedly called by Norton, the majority leader of the Council, is closed to the public.

Harold Lloyd Dies, Star of Silent Films

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Harold Lloyd, one of the world's great comedians who epitomized the meek loser but who always escaped from terrifying predicaments, died Monday. He was 77.

A pair of lenseless celluloid spectacles that cost 10 cents and a boater straw hat were Lloyd's trademarks as he rose to stardom in silent pictures and appeared in nearly 500 films.

His bumbling antics in silent and later in talkies won Lloyd millions of fans and a vast fortune. He became one of the wealthiest men in movie history.

He is best remembered for terrifying feats while dangling from the side of tall buildings and for uproarious chases. One famed scene found him clutching the hand of a giant clock high above the ground. Each minute brought him closer to disaster as the minute hand edged toward the bottom of the dial.

Lloyd had been ill for 18 months and recently had undergone a kidney operation. His death was attributed to cancer.

Lloyd created the character of "Lonesome Luke," a country bumpkin who wore big shoes, was leaving the courtroom.

Charge Youth With Unlawful Flag Display

KINGSTON
William Laughran, 18, of 78 Franklin Street was arrested today in City Court on a charge of unlawfully exhibiting and displaying the American Flag.

He was arraigned before City Judge Hubert A. Richter and pleaded innocent to the charge. He was committed to the Ulster County Jail in lieu of $100 bail for an appearance Friday.

According to police, the youth was noticed as he entered the courtroom. He reportedly had an American Flag sewed to the seat of his pants. He was apparently in City Court as a spectator.

Police headquarters across the hall from the City Courtroom was notified and after the information was drawn up Laughran was taken into custody as he was leaving the courtroom.

Man Accused Of Harassment

KINGSTON
Frank Denter, 47, of 12 Cordis Street, was arrested Monday night on a charge of harassment following a complaint made to police by Margaret Denter of the same address. He was scheduled to appear before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

According to the complaint, the defendant caused a disturbance by name calling and obscene remarks.

Hamilton Fish, Jr. (R-NY) today announced that $35,551,785 in Federal loan funds had been issued to individuals in the 28th Congressional District during 1970 by the Farmers Home Administration. "The 1970 summation of loan advances by the Farmers Home Administration covers only loans made to some 2,254 families in the Congressional District, and does not include community and association type loans for water, waste disposal and recreation," Congressman Fish said. Loans cover such items as real estate, chattel and economic opportunity loans under the Department's farm program, as well as rural housing loans, which provide mortgage money for rural housing purchase in the Congressional District's rural areas. Ulster County. $2,669,646 in loans to 178 families. GUARANTEED ADVERTISED SPECIALS!

Our policy is to plan, order and stock carefully so that you should never have to ask - "Are you out of the special?"

But even our best planning occasionally goes awry - your demand is greater than we expected; the delivery system breaks down or something else happens. Those are our problems, not yours.

For many years, we at Grand Union have had a policy on advertised specials called a RAINCHECK POLICY, to cover the few times we are out of an advertised special. This is the policy that applies in every Grand Union store.

Whenever any of our stores is out of an advertised special for any reason, you are entitled to a RAINCHECK. This means that the customer service desk located at the manager's office will give you a slip (raincheck) entitling you to buy the product at its special price the next time you are in the store.

Our RAINCHECK POLICY is just one of the many policies established for your shopping satisfaction. We would appreciate hearing from you if this policy is not carried out at any of our stores.

Inmates Post Good Record For Napanoch

NAPANOCH

The Eastern New York Correctional Facility at Napanoch has rolled up an impressive educational record, according to state and local officials. Of the 50 inmates who entered the New York State High School Equivalency Program this year, 42 have received satisfactory test scores and have been awarded diplomas. In the summer of 1970, another 35 inmates successfully completed the program. Department of Correction officials have cited the Napanoch facility for obtaining one of the best educational records in New York State, according to Superintendent Maurice M. Blow. In a statement released recently, Blow commended the inmates "on their worthy educational accomplishments." Earl Schoonmaker and John Scoza are the teachers of the High School Equivalency classes at the prison.

Freeman's Assistant Woman's Page Editor Praises Benefits of Dale Carnegie Course

Joan Woinoski says:

As assistant Woman's Page Editor of The Daily Freeman, I meet many different people in a variety of professions. Making conversation with new acquaintances has been made much smoother for me, thanks to a little "secret" learned in the Dale Carnegie Course. . . . Talk in terms of the OTHER person's interest. That rule has proved to be a considerable benefit on numerous occasions.

Also, being employed by a newspaper there are times when I am invited to speak before various organizations. By applying the Dale Carnegie principles, I have developed self-confidence which has helped me to be composed and enabled me to enjoy myself.

Today, instead of worrying and fearing to speak before an audience, I actually look forward to it with enthusiasm. Now I consider speaking engagements as interesting opportunities and challenges.

The Dale Carnegie Course is coming to Kingston . . .

Irish Fashion Show Scheduled

Miss Ann Kelly of Irish International Airlines will present "Fashion and Festival", a special showing of Irish fashions, sponsored by the Regina Coeli School Association, in the school, Albany Post Road, Hyde Park, at 8 p. m. on Friday, March 19.

Miss Kelly explained that each item in the Show is named after a famous Irish Festival—e.g., the Rose of Tralee Festival in Kerry, the Opera Festival in Wexford, the Galway Oyster Festival, the Cork Film Festival, to name a few.

"This gives me the opportunity to tell audiences about the great variety of events in the Irish social calendar—as well as showing them the latest from top Irish fashion houses," she added.

Like her American counterpart, the Irish girl has succumbed to the mid-20s "though we will also carry a good range of classic length clothes in the show," she pointed out. As always, fabrics will include multi-colored tweeds for outdoor and day wear; pants suits in linen and poplin for the home and exquisite Irish hand-crocheted lace for evening wear.

"The Show" will feature sizes for both mother and daughter in a range to cover any festival."

The show will include entertainment, refreshments, and awards, and is open to the public. Tickets will be available at the door or may be obtained in advance by contacting Mrs. Frank Chin of Hyde Park.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

This is for mothers with small babies.

Have you ever tried tucking one of your "protective pads" inside your baby's diaper when traveling? One test run and you will be convinced, as you can get more mileage with less stops and changes! Simply lay the pad inside the folds of a regular diaper. This is much more absorbent than the current paper diapers on the market.

And if baby's skin is sensitive to the paper diapers, this is the greatest solution for maximum protection.

A Reader

Dear Heloise:

After years of fishing around with brushes that have handles that are too short, and swabs that the cotton tip falls off, and really getting nowhere, I finally hit on the perfect idea for cleaning the crumbs out from between all the wires in the toaster.

I used a straw and blew them out!!!!

After I've blown, they fall into the tray below and are no trouble at all to clean out.

Now my toaster is as clean as a whistle.

The Kingston Women Voters Ask Welfare Reform

KINGSTON — Kingston League of Women Voters has had a study of the Welfare situation in Kingston for the past two years under the leadership of Mrs. Martin Charles. Providing assistance to the poor is a problem which is shared by all sections of the nation, one which is not exclusive in the Northeast, nor Ulster County.

As a result of an extensive study of the welfare problem undertaken by local Leagues throughout the country, the League of Women Voters of the United States announced that its members will support efforts to reform the welfare system. League members believe that the federal government should bear the major responsibility for an income assistance program which meets the basic needs of persons unable to work, whose earnings are inadequate or for whom jobs are not available.

Work incentives are an integral part of the League position but the organization will oppose mandatory work requirements. It underscored the importance of establishing adequate financial incentives and opportunities for realistic job training and counseling. In announcing the position, Lucy Wilso Benson, national president, stated: "The decision to work for constructive alternatives to our present welfare system is based on a clear mandate from our members. It represents a consensus of studies made by more than 900 Leagues and views which prevail in all sections of the country." She added, "League members put a great deal of energy and effort into this matter and reached some basic conclusions in four important areas: First, is the matter of benefits. We believe that the amount of income assistance should be sufficient to provide decent, adequate standards for food, clothing and shelter. Second, is the matter of coverage. We believe that all persons in need, individuals as well as members of families, should be eligible for assistance. Third, the individual rights of welfare participants should be protected and, fourth, the League believes that a punitive relationship between income assistance and job programs should be avoided. Work should be encouraged, but counseling, realistic training for actual jobs and financial incentives — not work requirements — should be the links between job programs and income assistance." In addition to income assistance the League's position calls for provision of supportive services (child care, counseling, family planning, health and legal services with the federal government setting eligibility and quality standards and the continuation of in-kind assistance programs such as food stamps and housing subsidies. The League also stresses that service and administrative centers be as accessible to program recipients as possible.

"The League of Women present welfare system is an income people. It's time to have admitted mess which all too assistance programs which programs to alleviate poverty often puts down the very people encourage choice and for many years." Mrs. Benson it is supposed to be helping, movement instead of locking stated, "and this position is It's time for changes — changes people on to a treadmill that based on fact not fancy. Our based on the real needs of low goes nowhere."

Sees Gains in Red Hook Enrollment

By TIM SCHUSTER

RED HOOK

High School Principal Richard Barringer told the Red Hook Board of Education Monday night that the expected enrollment increase in grades 7-12 for the next school year is 118 students.

The large jump in the secondary school, from 602 to 720 expected in grades 9-12 and from 380 upwards to 400 in grades 7 and 8, will necessitate increasing the number of faculty members accordingly, and Barringer reviewed the known needs.

The Board has already approved the addition of five elementary school faculty members for next year.

Barringer's projection called for five more English classes, five more social studies, four more mathematics, six more science, additional help in physical education and health, and as yet undetermined change in languages and special classes.

The population growth of the district has jumped the senior class from about 120 this year to an expected 160-170 next year. Barringer estimated that the growth "should level off" soon, unless there is much unexpected growth in the community. He added that the leveling off, according to current trends, looks as if graduating classes of 180-190 students can be anticipated within the next few years.

The Board approved the hiring of such teachers as were deemed necessary by Barringer's study for secondary school classes.

In other action, the Board gave the senior class permission to hold its senior dinner-dance at the Governor Clinton Hotel, passersby, the delay in sum-

June 4. It is the first time that the "prom" has not been held at the school.

District Principal Russell Keefe said that Bank Bros., Accord, had completed its heating contract in the Mill Road School addition on schedule and satisfactorily, and that the balance of the interior work can proceed as planned.

The Board awarded a contract of $11,544.75 to The Cottage Nursery, Inc., of Latham for landscape planting around the Mill Road addition.

And Burroughs Corp., Kingston was awarded a $19,943.84 contract for a new accounting machine, contingent on budget approval. Business Manager Earl Friant explained that its primary functions would be to replace a 10-year-old machine in keeping encumbrances up to date and in preparing the payroll.

Final action on letting a contract out to bid on the estimated $105,800 bus garage addition was tabled. It was verbally decided to finance the district's share of the contract locally. The garage, with 18 stalls including a washing area, will result in a direct real estate tax figure of about $21,000, with the balance coming from the state.

In commenting on past building projects, Board member Dr. George Michael said, "I don't think there is a school district in the area where growth and economy have been so harmonious as ours," and he attributed this partially to "good public relations."

The Board approved the appointment of Mrs. Carmel Jones as school nurse-teacher, effective immediately, and Mrs. Lila Elsemore as elementary teacher, effective in September.

Rhinebeck Educator Will Attend Meet To Discuss End Of Fire Alarm System

RHINEBECK

District Principal Ralph Steeves will attend the Rhinebeck Village Board meeting tonight to discuss the village's recent decision to discontinue the fire alarm box system, he announced at Monday's Board of Education meeting.

The village voted to get rid of the boxes this winter because they were largely unused; the Rhinebeck Fire Department has an extensive radio system, and almost all calls have been phoned in from private residences.

Former Board of Education president Robert W. Asher recently expressed locally his opposition to the move because of the school situation.

"In the event of fire at any of the schools during the school day a busy, or out of order line could be disastrous," he said. "In the event of fire at night, when a telephone would not be immediately available to passersby, the delay in summoning aid could be most costly."

Explosions Rock Federal Buildings

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Three explosions rocked two federal buildings in St. Louis Monday night, causing extensive damage to one. No one was seriously injured.

Fourteen policemen and firemen were examined at hospitals for concussion and ear damage and were released.

The first blast shattered glass doors at the entrance and a few windows in a one-story federal records center.

About three hours later, an explosion occurred at a two-story brick building being used as a temporary home of ROTC facilities for St. Louis and Washington universities.

Police Lt. Phil Pizzo said police and firemen had just finished inspecting minor damage caused by the explosion of the second floor area. Extensive damage was reported.

The two explosions in the ROTC facility, midway between the campuses of the two schools it served were about 20 minutes apart.

The FBI took over the investigation. Air Force and Army ROTC buildings were damaged or destroyed by fires during disturbances at Washington University about a year ago. ROTC offices and classrooms for St. Louis and Washington have since moved into the off-campus building.

School playground for its July jamboree when the new firehouse-village hall complex will be officially dedicated.

Ralph Haskins and James Cecil of the Policy Handbook Committee passed out samples of school policies. The Board will have a professional firm revise its policy handbook, and will use its services in related fields.

It was decided to contact the village and town governments to inquire into the possibility of a future contract for snow and ice removal from the school district premises, as problems were encountered this winter.

Ellenville Meeting...Dem Raps GOP Trustees

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville Village Trustee David Kramer called it a "moment of truth," saying it was something every elected official should indulge in from time to time, but other observers thought the trustee's speech, delivered at the meeting of the Ellenville Village Board Monday night, had marked political overtones.

Kramer insisted his portrayal of the shortcomings of the Republican majority Village Board was motivated solely by public spirit, but Mayor Robert Dowling wondered aloud why the Democrat picked the last board meeting before election for his public spiritedness.

Kramer scored the board for its performance in last summer's water shortage, for the state of the Ellenville Urban Renewal program, particularly in the area of public housing, and for an alleged lack of competitive bidding on municipal projects.

He said he was not adequately informed of the status of the village water system, and that a water survey report was delivered just before the shortage, noting the system was adequate. He further charged that Dowling and Village Engineer Aaron Horowitz "stalled" in the alleviation of the problem.

Dowling and Horowitz both vigorously denied the "stalling" charge, asking what motive they could have had in prolonging the emergency.

Particularly incensed by the manner of acquisition of new pumps for the water system, Kramer asked why the new pump for the cation well was purchased without competitive bidding under emergency provisions, and then not employed until the late fall. Horowitz said the pump was purchased in that manner because it might have proven necessary if the village water level had continued to fall, and it could have been hooked up to the system the day it arrived if that had been necessary.

Kramer also charged a lack of competitive bidding in several municipal paving jobs. He said those jobs only receiving one bid should have been rebid until competition in the bidding was attained. Village Attorney James Murray disagreed, saying all jobs had been properly bid, and it was not uncommon to receive only one bid on a job, especially for specialty work.

Kramer deplored what he considered a lack of progress in the Urban Renewal project, and laid the blame to the stubbornness and obstruction of members of the board. He also raised the question of payments to displaced businesses, citing a case of one Ellenville businessman who he alleged reduced his relocation bill from just under $10,000 to about $6,200 when told by Urban Renewal officials that his claims might be excessive. Kramer called it "a conspiracy against the federal government" and said he was going to ask the office of the State Attorney General to investigate the matter. Dowling said he would welcome any such investigation.

Kramer also brought up for a rehash the now fabled case of "Judge Elias's Sewer", maintaining that Elias received the sewer connection as a result of political cronyism, and Dowling, Trustee Dewitt Clinton, and Murray all maintaining they were required to do so by law.

Toward the end of the discussion, Dowling said he "doesn't work in Saratoga and come home on weekends" (Kramer does), but was available seven days a week to deal with the village's problems. He finally said, "Bring on the investigation, and I'll be available."

Bids were received for approximately 5,000 feet of cast iron pipe to be used in the village's water system improvement program, and the award was made to Griffin Pipe Products Co. of Florence, N.J., with a low bid of $3.36 per foot. Village Manager Lawrence Eyres said the laying of the pipe should begin in April or May.

In delivering the police report, Eyres noted the amount collected from the village parking meters was up $235.57 last month. He said, "People are beginning to pay more attention to the meters with all the surveillance they are getting." The Police Department has been devoting increased effort to parking violations.

Having conferred with Burnished Metals Corp. of Ellenville, which has been charged with polluting the village waters with zinc wastes and causing great difficulty at the village sewage treatment plant, Eyres said the solution is at hand, and zinc will no longer be a problem in the near future.

A Warning From Mayor Of Tivoli

TIVOLI

Mayor Mortimer Appel issued notice of a crackdown on village residents who don't pay their water bills, at Monday night's meeting of the Board of Trustees.

"We are going to shut off the water on delinquent water bills this coming Monday," he said, with the backing of the board.

The board also created a new position in appointing Irving Stickles as superintendent of the village street and sanitation crew, with commensurate salary increment starting in June. Appel said that it was necessary to have someone in a position of responsibility when "no one else is around."

The board announced the winners of the $100 first prize for home beautification as Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dengler of Broadway. Winners of $25 each are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Porter, 49 Montgomery Street; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Sanger, 58 Montgomery Street; William Reilly, North Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Post, 11 Broadway.

The cash awards were donated anonymously, and the donor and the mayor chose the winners.

Appel noted that there had been "many inquiries" about the parcels of village property up for March 15 tax sale. It will be held from 1-5 p.m. at the village offices.

Central Hudson has begun the installation of the new mercury vapor street lights in the village, beginning on Feroe Avenue.

And the mayor said that basketball backboards and hoops will be put up in Tivoli Memorial Park as soon as the weather permits.

An Explanation Of One-Man Assessor System

RED HOOK

Red Hook Town Supervisor Warren Simmons explained today that the Board of Assessors was instrumental in the Town Board's decision to go with a one-man assessor system instead of with the current three.

In a statement, Simmons said that it appeared "that some people are concerned as to why the Red Hook Town Board passed a resolution at the February meeting to change to a one-man appointed assessor."

The new state legislation, which applies to every town of this size, allows for a continuation of three men as elected or the appointment of one man, full time.

Simmons said that the Town Board and the assessors initially disagreed, with the Board in favor of retaining the three men, but "the three assessors informed the Board that they did not want to continue because of the required training course prescribed by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment. This would have to be accomplished and completed during his first year in office with the starting date of Oct. 1, 1971."

Simmons outlined the requirements for the appointive post, noting that Red Hook falls under the requirement "any town with up to 3,000 parcels."

Assessor qualifications include such things as a high school diploma, two years of related employment or a combination of college and practical work, and completion of the aforementioned training course of 80 hours instruction.

The Board "felt we were saving taxpayers the cost of a special election," said Simmons, "and acting in the best interest of all the people." The election would cost $2,800.

Simmons invited questions from any of his constituents.

Red Hook Course

A Special Driver's Safety Course will be given at the Red Hook High School Monday, March 15 and Tuesday, March 16 from 7-9 p.m. Attendance at both sessions is required in order to receive the completion certificate.

Interested persons may call the high school or register prior to the program March 15.

Entrance fee to the course is $3 and applicants must bring their learner's permit.

3 County Teams in YMCA Tournament

POUGHKEEPSIE Three Ulster County teams have been selected for the 28th annual Poughkeepsie YMCA-Hudson Valley Basketball Tournament which gets under way Monday, March 22.

Tournament directors claim that this year's field is the strongest in the long history of this basketball classic.

The Ulster County entries are Sickler's Delivery, the so-called Road Runners, featuring a bevy of eligible Ulster County Community College talent and the Saugerties Athletics, an all-star squad recruited from the fast Saugerties Athletic Association league.

Savino's, the defending champions, will be back with several Harlem Wizards players and one of the outstanding collegiate scorers of the season—Rich Rinaldi, former Arlington High ace who went on to stardom at St. Peter's College where he ranked among the nation's top five collegiate scorers with an average of 32.5 points per game.

Savino's won the tournament championship in overtime last season.

Juick's Five from Rockland County is expected to have Charlie Yelverton, the Fordham University star who has led the Rams to their most successful seasons in history including a victory over Notre Dame. The Rams were 9th ranked last week in the United Press-International weekly ratings.

Rounding out the field are the always potent Felicello's Pipers, the Poughkeepsie city league champions; Hyde Park Inn, champions of the Hyde Park League and "The Dutchmen" featuring several standing players from the Dutchess County Community College squad.

Can't All Be Luck For Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Some people call it luck, but Coach Ted Owens says its pride that has pulled his Kansas basketball team through two consecutive overtime victories to remain unbeaten in the Big Eight.

The fourth-ranked Jayhawks came from behind again Monday night and nipped Missouri 71-69 in an extra session at Columbia with Aubrey Nash carrying the scoring load and Dave Robisch hitting the final three free throws for the victory margin.

Kansas, the league champion at 13-0, finishes against Nebraska, 8-5, at Lawrence Saturday night.

Oklahoma defeated Oklahoma State 80-74 at Stillwater and Colorado, with Cliff Meely breaking the Big Eight scoring record, beat Iowa State 77-73 at Ames to close their seasons.

Oklahoma and Missouri tied for second place at 9-5, and will be joined by Nebraska if the Huskers beat Kansas. Each is hoping for the bid to the National Invitational Tournament that usually goes to the Big Eight's runnerup.

Colorado, 5-8, and Oklahoma State, 2-11, finish Thursday night at Boulder. Iowa State is through at 2-12.

Owens said he was impressed by the way the Jayhawks refused to be ruffled by the deafening screams of the 6,000 Missouri fans packed into old Brewster field house. The Tigers sensed an upset and a sure trip to the NIT, and they especially bore down on Robisch with their vocal pressure.

Meely hit 27 points and shattered two league records. He raised the one-season record to 383 points and the career mark to 1,896. The old records were 377 by Salt Wesley and 1,888 by Clyde Lovellette, both of Kansas.

Oklahoma tied a Gallagher Hall record by sinking 61 per cent of its field shots. The Sooners broke a 39-39 tie with 12 straight points and Oklahoma State could not recover.

Scott Martin of OU and Jerry Clark of OSU each had 20 points.

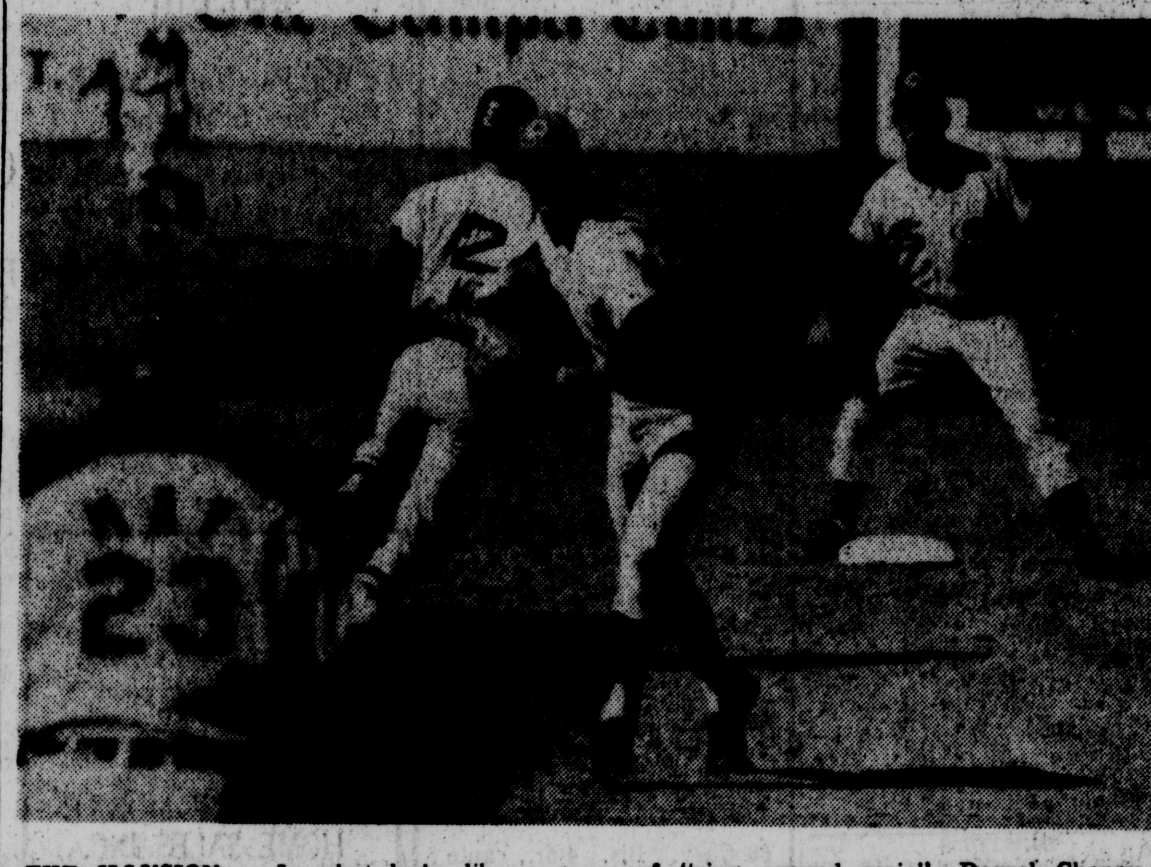

Henry Smith was high for Missouri with 24 points. Nash led Kansas with 16 and Robisch added 15.

In New York, the National Invitation Tournament added five more teams to its field—Hawaii, Syracuse, Georgia Tech, LaSalle and St. John's of New York. They join St. Bonaventure, Dayton, Tennessee, Massachusetts and Providence, leaving six openings in the 16-team field.

The 34th NAIA Tourney got under way in Kansas City with all the favorites or seeded teams winning the eight first-round games. Kentucky State, defending champion and top-seeded, whipped St. Thomas, Minn., 100-65.

In other games, Earlham, Ind., beat Lewis & Clark, Ore., 105-83; Elizabeth City defeated Western New England 90-76; Indiana, Pa., downed Eastern New Mexico 81-72 and Glassboro, N.J., topped East Central, Okla., 71-60.

Also Stephen F. Austin turned back North Carolina-Asheville 91-73; Whittier upended Sacred Heart, Kan., 69-59 and Eau Claire ousted Southern, Ark., 66-50.

THE ILLUSION — In what looks like a game of "ring around rosie", Darrel Chaney begins double play in exhibition game between Red Sox and Cincinnati Reds. Doug Griffin has just been tagged out as he tries to skirt the play and Lee May awards ball at first base to nab George Thomas. Frank Duffy is the other Red Sox player (R). (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Misfits' 2552 Is A Real Family Affair

KINGSTON The Misfits, a most unlikely name, are leading the Class A division of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association tournament with a 2552 gross and it's strictly a family affair.

Mrs. Gladys DeCicco and her three daughters — Kathy, Sharon and Lynda — and a family friend (Joan Jameson) rolled a net series of 2351 and had 201 pins handicap to lead first weekend of action at Mid-City Lanes.

Mrs. Jameson slammed her second 600 set of the season to pace the team with net 607 off lines of 194, 214 and 190. Mrs. DeCicco posted 468, daughter Kathy anchored with 432, Lynda DeCicco had 444 and Mrs. Sharon (Humphrey) contributed 400. The 2552 gave the Misfits a substantial lead over runnerup Ulster Tool and Die which hit 2397. Betty Shelnigher led with 503.

The DeCicco family — Mother and three daughters — do not bowl as a team in regular league competition but got together for the KWBA event. Two weekends remain but the score is good enough to win it.

Nancy Wunderlich posted 485 to pace Bridge Circle to 2428 first place gross in Class B. Ken's Essos of Woodstock, led by Patricia Cocks' 494, are in second place, with Humphreys third with 2391 gross. Gene Schmitt rolled 529 in the leadoff spot for the Birds.

Black Knight is the current Class C leading team with Kathryn Puglisi anchoring the squad with a neat 522. Helen Reck's 521 boosted Sangi-New Drop into second place with 2190 and Lillian Rossini's 522 sparked Rotron No. 1's third place 2186.

Disappointing.

That's about the only way to describe the overall showing of New Paltz State in this past weekend's State University Athletic Conference Swimming and Diving Championships here.

The Hawks were eighth out of ten teams — exactly the same as last year when the event was held in New Paltz — and most disappointing of all was the drop of diver Steve Morgan from defending champ to ninth place also ran.

Coach Art Stockin's Birds were expected to produce greater things, but the Conference's powerhouses Cortland, Oneonta, and Brockport remained as tough as usual and Buffalo, with anew and existing crop of freshmen, surprised many by winning the team title by a wide margin.

The Bengals tallied 362.5 points. Host Cortland had 198 while defending champion Oneonta scored 169.5. New Paltz's eighth place total was 79 points.

Only freshman star Larry Bushey placed in any of the 16 events on the two-day card for New Paltz. The former Prep School All-American was third in the 100 yard breaststroke and 200 yard individual medley.

Morgan's demise to ninth nationalized by the Hawk people except for the guess that he was overconfident. A freshman, Al Oubre of Buffalo, took the event.

Keith Benjamin of Oneonta, famed for his Mohawk style haircut, was individual star

Bucks Run Skein to 20

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Lew Alcindor and Oscar Robertson: the pair that's making Milwaukee famous.

With the Big A and the Big O in command, machine-like Milwaukee stopped Seattle 104-99 Monday night and ran its record National Basketball Association victory string to 20.

Alcindor scored 32 points and Robertson, 24 as the Bucks pulled away in the second half after trailing 53-48 at intermission.

In the night's only other NBA game, Buffalo defeated Portland 114-98. Indiana topped Carolina 118-105 in the only American Basketball Association action.

Down by five points at the half, the Bucks converted a technical foul called against Seattle's Don Smith after the buzzer ended the second period, then surged into an 11-point lead, 71-60 after the intermission.

Spencer Haywood had 30 points and Don Smith 28 for the SuperSonics.

Don May scored 31 points to pace the Buffalo romp, throwing in 10 of his game-high total as the Braves pulled away in the second quarter. Geoff Petrie led Portland with 20.

Mel Daniels, bothered by the flu, played only 35 minutes but scored 29 points and had 21 rebounds for Indiana. Freddie Lewis added 24 and 20 points, respectively, as the Pacers broke open the game in the second half after trailing 50-48 at halftime.

DEAR ABBY: This is in reply to "FOR DEMOCRACY," who wanted to know why the women in her office couldn't vote about whether or not to wear pants suits.

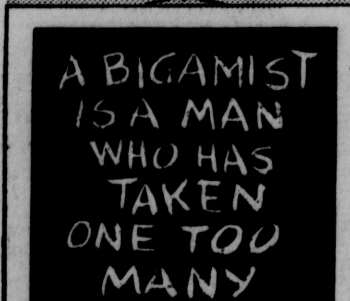

Perhaps the boss knows the interpretation some women would put on "pants."

Here in New York City, female teachers were recently permitted to wear pants suits. Since that time, every kind of pants imaginable has been worn by women teachers of all ages, shapes and sizes, and some of the rear views have been horrendous! I've seen skin-tight jeans, ill-fitting stretch pants, bottoms, ski-type stretch pants, lounge pajamas, hip-huggers, and a few neat, well-tailored pants suits. (Very few.)

Let the ladies inflict pants on the world OUTSIDE of business hours. They are for the most part, hideous. Please omit my name. I am a woman teacher in the Bronx.

is all important, I agree. One young woman, when arrested for swimming topless at a beach where a sign was posted, "Women must wear two-piece swim suits," explained that hers WAS a two-piece swim suit. Shorts and a cap to match.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of mature adults speaking French (or any other foreign language for that matter) in front of people who don't understand a word?

My future in-laws speak French in front of me, knowing I cannot speak a word of it. They speak English very well, and there is no reason for them to speak French.

This has been going on for two years. Please don't tell me to learn French because I had all I could do to pass Spanish in high school.

Am I making a big deal out of nothing? Or are they just plain rude?

NO PAR LAY VOO

DEAR NO PAR LAY VOO: They are rude for sure. But you could also be making a big deal out of nothing. You don't have to "par lay voo" just pretend to "comprende."

DEAR ABBY: The story about the 16-year-old girl not being able to attend public school because she was not living with her parents may not have made any sense to you, but it is true.

We had reason to investigate that very situation and learned that a student may not attend Detroit public school unless he is living with his family or a legal guardian.

It seems to me that if a student finds living conditions at home intolerable, but is able to live with family friends, he should be permitted to attend school as long as he makes his grades and attends school regularly.

We hear so much about "drop outs." I think an investigation would show that many are "locked out."

MICHIGAN READER

DEAR READER: I heard the same is true in New Jersey. It still doesn't make any sense to me.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

Wednesday, March 10

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Show kindness to mate instead of berating him or her. Have more happiness in the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You and a vital associate do not see eye to eye right now, but don't fret and all works out fine tomorrow. Plan a happy evening with loved one. Being more objective in dealing with others is wise at this time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Instead of arguing with a co-worker, try to cooperate more and get right results. Take care of your health during day. New opportunities open up for you with associates in the evening, if you are alert to them.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who when young feels others are imposing on him or her, which belief could lead to all forms of imaginary ailments that could deter the otherwise wine promise here. This can be avoided if you teach this child to do chores and develop a good sense of responsibility. Regardless, upon reaching maturity your progeny finally wakes up to the foolishness of being so self-centered and accomplishes much to compensate for lost time.

DAVY JONES LOCKER

LOCKUP: Davy Jones presides at the bottom of the sea and locks up drowned bodies for safekeeping according to an old sailors' legend. Some believe the name started as a corruption of the Biblical Jonah and the whale and others think the name Davy is a corrupted form of the word "devil."

'Vanished' Interesting Show

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC started its most ambitious "World Premiere" feature Monday night, a four-hour, two-part adaptation of Fletcher Knebel's suspense novel, "Vanished."

Judging from the first two hours of the filmed drama, it is a big, lavish and faithful reflection of the 1968 book which was long, had lots of plot and—unfortunately—was recent enough so that a lot of people remember the solution of the mystery.

The story centers in the White House, before and after President Paul Roudebush's best friend and adviser disappears from his golf club. Soon it is learned that the missing man had been meeting weekly in a rented apartment with a nuclear scientist who also disappeared.

Much of the story concentrates on the president's young press secretary who must handle the increasing news corps demands for information while the president refuses to share his knowledge of what is going on.

A lot of the program was filmed on location in Washington and captured some of the flavor of the city. It deals with real government agencies including the FBI and CIA.

Richard Widmark, as the president, and James Farentino as the press secretary, have the heaviest roles, but there is an enormous cast with many prominent names. Among them are Arthur Hill as the missing adviser and Eleanor Parker as his wife, Robert Young, in a senator with presidential ambitions.

It's an interesting show. The second segment will be broadcast tonight.

With domestic television and radio frozen from on-the-spot, blow-by-blow coverage of the Joe Frazier-Muhammad Ali heavyweight fight, most broadcast channels handled the event while it was in progress by using the running report by the news services.

CBS Radio, for instance, used The Associated Press round-by-round account as fast as it was received. Seconds after Frazier was declared the winner, radio had it on the air. A few minutes later, television stations broke into programs in progress with bulletins.

There were some negotiations by networks for rights to show tape of the fight at a later date. ABC, for one, turned down any deal because the price demanded—reportedly around $500,000—was too high.

High Court Door Still Ajar on Ali Draft Appeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has closed the door on Catholics and others who believe in the "just war" doctrine but evidently not on Muhammad Ali, whose draft appeal is tentatively set for argument next month.

Ali's lawyers will insist the former heavyweight champion's Muslim religion prohibited him not only from fighting in Vietnam but from fighting in any war that did not have Allah's blessing.

The Justice Department does not seem imperiled by the 8-1 draft ruling announced by the Court hours before Ali was defeated by Joe Frazier.

The heart of the decision is the findings Congress did not intend to exempt opponents of any one particular war, including the Vietnam war, when it provided conscientious objector status for those "opposed to participation in war in any form."

A "straightforward reading," of the law, said Justice Thurgood Marshall, "can bear out but one meaning: that conscientious scruples relating to war and military service must amount to conscientious opposition to participating personally in any war and all war."

The two men who lost, Guy Gillette of Yonkers, N.Y., a self-described humanist, and Louis A. Negre of Bakersfield, Calif., a Catholic, had asserted the "just war" doctrine and said they could not conscientiously fight in Vietnam.

Gillette, particularly, said he would be willing to participate in a war of national defense or in a U.N. peace-keeping measure. Significantly the ruling did not upset a 1955 decision that a Jehovah's Witness was entitled to C.O. status even though he was not opposed to participation in a "theocratic war" commanded by Jehovah. Since he opposed fighting in secular wars the court said he was a legitimate conscientious objector. Ali's appeal rests heavily on that decision.

CAPTAIN MEDINA

Medina Ordered To Stand Trial

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Capt. Ernest Medina, commander of the company which waged the My Lai assault in 1968, has been ordered to stand trial on charges of murdering 102 Vietnamese civilians. "I am innocent of the charges against me," he says.

A platoon leader during the attack was Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who is on trial at Ft. Benning, Ga., and also is accused of slaying 102 Vietnamese civilians.

Calley has testified that he killed on Medina's orders. Medina denies it. Three specifications of premeditated murder against Medina were cited in the announcement Monday that he would be court-martialed.

The Army charges that he killed not less than 100 Vietnamese persons "with machine guns, rifles and other weapons" and that he fatally shot two other persons—a male and a female.

An Army spokesman said the figure of 100 takes in the village inhabitants whose deaths were caused by members of Company C, which Medina commanded.

The other two alleged slayings, according to the Army, are not included in the victims Calley is charged with murdering.

Medina, 34, of Montrose, Colo., could face the death penalty, the Army said.

No trial date has been set. The stocky, dark-haired Medina, who is the father of three children, also faces charges of assault with a dangerous weapon.

The accusation contends that on March 17 at My Khe, he shot two persons during interrogation of "suspected enemy personnel."

Calley has testified that he directed a mass execution of the unresisting Vietnamese men, women and children at an irrigation ditch east of My Lai and that Medina ordered him to do so.

Medina has been ordered to appear as a witness at the Calley trial on Wednesday.

However, one of his attorneys says Medina can invoke the 5th Amendment and not testify since he has not been ordered court-martialed.

Last week, Medina's attorneys charged that the Army was attempting to prevent him from testifying at Calley's trial, but he was later called at the request of the six-officer jury.

Medina's lawyers had filed a petition in the U.S. Court of Military Appeals which said Medina is "ready, willing and able to testify on behalf of the Army in direct refutation of Lt. Calley's testimony."

Cairo Still Pins Hopes on U.S.

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian government still hopes the United States will get Israel to withdraw from the territories occupied in the 1967 war, officials in Cairo say.

They say President Anwar Sadat let the Suez Canal cease-fire expire to keep his options open in case diplomacy fails, but a resumption of shooting in the near future is not being considered.

"We are still hoping the United States will get Israel to undertake a commitment to withdraw from occupied territory," said an official at the Foreign Ministry. "For the time being we are waiting."

Al Ahran, Cairo's semi-official newspaper, revealed today that Sadat and President Nixon may be exchanging messages. The paper gave no details of what was said between the two, but it said the latest message was sent from Sadat to Nixon last Friday, two days before the Egyptian announced his government was no longer bound by the cease-fire the United States had sponsored.

Sadat in his broadcast announcement also revealed he paid a secret visit to Moscow early last week and said he obtained the Soviet government's complete support for his refusal to continue the cease-fire.

Egyptian officials said the Soviets are giving full support to Egypt's diplomatic campaign to move the Israelis back. But they said Sadat's words implied full Soviet support if hostilities resume.

Egyptian officials feel that Cairo has made a number of significant concessions during the past month, they consider its chief conciliatory move a commitment to sign a peace agreement with the Jewish state if Israel will leave the occupied Arab land.

"Now the question has been narrowed down to one of territory," said an official. "It is a question of whether or not they intend to get out of our land."
